

INTRODUCTION

On behalf of the entire Ministry of Higher Education, Research, Science and Technology, the Directorate of Admission, Accreditation and Evaluation would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the successful candidates who will be nominated for admission to the functional universities of South Sudan. The Directorate would also like to remind the successful candidates that their admission to South Sudan Universities is coinciding with the independence of South Sudan. This is history in making because the candidates who will be admitted go down in history as the first southern Sudanese to be admitted to South Sudan universities with the independence of south Sudan. They will be considered as the pioneers of South Sudan Universities.

In the past, higher educational institutions in the south were administered on concurrent power basis with the Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research in the Government of National Unity (GONU. Emerging as a country on July 9th onward the Ministry of Higher Education, Research, Science and Technology will take full mandate over the administration of higher education in the south. Amongst this will be full administration of admission. Also in the past, the Student Guide and the Admission Form was unified for all the students in the Sudan. With the independence of South Sudan, the Directorate of Admission, Accreditation and Evaluation deemed it necessary to develop and translate another version of the student Guide and Admission Form to fit the situation of our students and institutions of higher learning in South Sudan as temporary measures. In the near future, the Student Guide and the Admission Form will be improve and modified to reflect our institutions of higher learning and that of the students of South Sudan.

The Student Guide and the Admission Forms are printed both in Arabic and English for the benefit of students who will have difficulties with one language. It is therefore critical that applicants must first read the student Guide carefully before filling out the form. This Student Guide is composed of nine chapters. Each chapter is made of regulations and conditions for admission process. As such, each applicant is asked to cautiously read each chapter to enable him/her make the right choice of a career that matches his/her qualifications and capabilities. The most fundamental point in this introduction is the fact that all the admission process is regulated by "The Laws Governing Admission to Institutions of Higher Learning in South Sudan" The first chapter in the Student Guide consists of the basic articles of the regulations which regulate admission procedures. The regulations include:

- Basis of nomination for admission and its conditions.
- The qualifying and preferred subjects and how to apply.
- Suspension of admission and transfer after the first year
- Compulsory and additional subjects which a candidate is supposed to pass in the Sudan School Certificate (Academic & Technical), other Secondary School Certificates (not Sudan School Certificate) and foreign certificates.
- This chapter also deals with Special Admission which includes the admission of the students from less developed States, and the children of martyrs.
